BUG SQUASHER NITE RALLY

Saturday, August 9

7:30 P.M.

George Gunther sends this information to all rallyists: This event will start from 3.9 miles east of the intersection of Nebraska 31 and Nebraska 64 (Maple Street). This intersection (31 and 64) is at the northeast corner of Elkhorn, Nebraska. The Omaha people can reach the starting point by going out Maple Street to the Clearview Home. (George doesn't detail directions for us Lincoln folk, but I bet we find it anyway.)

Equipment needed will be: a functioning odometer, a watch, a compass, a flashlight, paper and pencil.....sounds like another challenging evening for the navigators.

So do plan to attend what promises to be a dandy way to spend a hot August nite. See you all there.

THE ROCKET RUN

Many months ago our R. E. asked for the assignment of "chairman for the Rocket Run". As the final minutes before the first rocket firing were running out, "crisis in the middle East" produced "crisis in the middle West" and the Rocket Run was left chairmanless. While Captain David fretted under the confines of the A. F. alert, Sandy Downs took over and turned out a fine event. The following is his diagnosis of what took place.

"The Rocket Run started at about 9:00 o'clock on a warm night with an overcast sky. The chairman and his committee of one had their fingers crossed hoping that the first rocket would get away so we could have an event. The first try the week before had been rained out. The committee reached a decision that if the first rocket got away the weather to come would be immaterial. The following rockets led Paul Kline and his many navigators and Ed Weaver to the launching site on J. J. Carnazzo's farm. It seems that Ed can run faster than Paul 'cause Ed came in first with Paul Kline second. Third place was a tie between A. C. Langworthy and Clyde Versley. Seems Langworthy got there first but Versley traveled less miles...thus with the time and distance factor thrown in for good measure, we had the tie. Fourth place went to Gene Smiley with Clyde Bourgeois a close fifth. For the rest of the herd that found the farm located on a strip of land between the Platte and Elkhorn Rivers....Congratulations! And for the rest, who went west of the Platte, I understand you got to see a barn burn down, so you had some excitement too. For those who didn't fit into the above two categories, we hope you had a good time and better luck on your next try."

The Guest Award went to Hal Middaugh. It was nice to see him out among us again and I hope he will feel inclined to rejoin our organization.

Now for the Firer. Pep Sinton and wife, Mattie, were the official timekeepers. Hope the bugs didn't eat you up, and many thanks for the good help. After the run 29 cars of members and guests repaired to the Platte View Lakes to roast, burn or in some other way prepare the chow they brought. The Club furnished the liquid to wash it all down.

Thank you for the good resuming, Sandy, and also for stepping so adequately into the middle of an emergency and coming up with what sounds like a most creditable event.

Due to a very happy turn of events the Thoresen's found time to vacation for two delightful (tho too short) weeks.....hence this abbreviated issue. We'll catch up on all the news and give Dale's secretary a bigger job next month.
