FATHER CHAPTER

Pat Baker

As you have probably noticed there is a 1967 membership roster in this month's issue of the notes. Please check your address, zip code and telephone number to make certain that I have them listed correctly. If you find any errors, please call me (397 4308) or write (3820 Terrace Drive, Omaha 68134) and a correction will appear in the April issue.

Did you ever stop to think about one reason for attending all monthly meetings? If you are like a certain Jag driver you miss one meeting and it costs you $7.00!!! Then if you are like Ken Tyhurst and attend faithfully each month and wait long enough you get a chance to cash in on the POT OF GOLD. Ken raided the pot for $8.00 at the March meeting. We still have a balance of $27.00 in the pot for next month.

HOW TO RALLYE IN - - - - -

WALLMUT: Wear a black driving suit with luminescent orange stripes. Try to sell Valiants. Look important. Drive at 100-plus. Tell every checkpoint he is at least 7 1/2 feet out of position and that his watches are two seconds slow. Never rallye with less than three Baldies. Streamline the car with racing stripes. Scribe cracks in the windshield and hammer dents into the roof. Look tough.

VOLVO 122S: Wear your safety harness even when not in the car. Distribute illustrated folders of the 1964 Shell 4000. Snap your fingers and say, "L' acceleration come on!" Say your navigator is a product of Super Swedish Engineering. Outrun other compacts and make them cough.

VOLVO 1600S: Be friendly. Pull over for everyone. Have Irish coffee and buns with every control, whether on or off route. Say your car's "Just Darling." Always early at least 240 lbs. of maps. Never give up.

CHRYSLER: Wear a dark trench-coat and smoke Algerian cigarettes in a holder. Say "over, bleu" and "mon dieu, why do you not up so average, lei?" Call your navigator "Francois." Walk up to the control making little hydraulic noises to yourself. Know how to pronounce "Citroen."

CORVALL: Be familiar with such expressions as "4-speed stick" and "simulated wire covers" and "heel-and toe bracket." Carry three Fan-belts over each shoulder. Know where Monza is and how to spell "Spider". Say the Ford Falcon is not a true compact. Optigial at extra cost.

MEMPHIS 88: Be daring. Wear a blue baret and wrap-around sunglasses. Say "out" and "alors" and "chocun a son Krmault!" Hang the tail well out on all corners. Mimic everyone in sight and whisper into their faces, "diss brakes!"

VW 1200: Be Fanatic. Be dependable. Run flat-out all the time. (3600rpm) Chew vociferously on chunks of Knocmarst and Kase. Call your navigator "ain Dumbkopf". Call the exhaust pipes "huzgufirehren." When asked, be unfamiliar with such things as "economy car" and "over-steer" and "wind-sensitivity". Slide sideways around corners, yelling "sieg heil!" and "Wolfsburguber allies!" Say the Porsche is an expensive VW. Say the 1200 is not a true VW. Say the Ford Falcon is not a true fastback.

VW1500: Be fluent with such expressions as "twin-carburators" and "twin trucks", and "9". Challenge people to find the engine. Know how to find the engine.

FORD F-1000: Run with straight pipes and at least 3 Valve. Know how to pronounce "Ljan'feldt". Be familiar with expressions such as "simulated wood-rimmed steering wheel." "total performance" (memorize) "King of the Mountains, "King of the World, "King" Carry witnesses full of shock absorbers. Never rallye with less than 9 driving lights. Streamline this car, too, with racing stripes. When asked, be familiar with such things as "Weber carburetors" and "fiberglass" and "Mini-Cooper". Optional at extra cost.

DI-4: Turn up your nose at "sporty compacts". Arrive at every control half an hour early, drifting in sideways and shoving the control car with p.v.wal. Say, "ruddy good sport!" and "ripping good fun" and "I say, you chaps wo ldn't have any bitter lemon, would you?"

MINI COOPER S: Make sure everyone around knows who you are even without your car on. Be diabolical. Suck everyone into turns at 80. Know how to come out of such turns. Avoid large potholes. Avoid large dogs. Wear a turtle-neck sweater and grin incessantly (except when being passed on a straight road.) Talk Irish. Say, "look, wa--- no springs!"

POKCHN: Look like a count. Wear black boots and an Eisen Kreuz. Shift gears rapidly and constantly even when not in the car. Say, "Se Porsche ist de essence of engineering was a ostweil: is" and "Wey de rallye instructions alviva in English."

LORDK XKS: Shift slowly, know how to use the trouble to play "Wule, Britanica" on the exhaust pipes. At night, turn off the headlights and fly by the instruments. Avoid rough roads. Call the rallye organizers "stupid chots." Fill the windshield washers with gin and tonic. Say "every tree aschts rah has turrree w. maccree wipers".

MC TP: Wear baggy, tweedy pants, and "old school" gravel, have long, straight hair and smoke a pipe. Say no true sports car has roll-up windows. Carry an inner-tube patching kit.

S&S: Flip the car at the slightest opportunity, especially when passing controls. Know what "Saub" stands for. Look like Eric Carle. Say "ring-a-ding-ding" and "Well ay w.s yeast hemsing 'round de corner von ay see dis antester..."

FHOWALL (25007): Scram into corners gesticulating madly with both hands. Call your navigator "Il Passagiere" and ask him, "ygy, luigi, wats-a-matta, you crazy?" Tell everyone you finished the Canadian Winter Rallye. Say, "Ayee, pizant, date-ede-real-Passaz" and "Glanz wia, am-a start opp in -a lift'again!"

TRUDON*SPIFFERS: Turn 24-foot circles around the control car, rolling the windows up and down furiously. Act assy.

AUSTIN HEALEY 3000: Make sure at the start that you have been given a "special Rallye Route," say the TR4 is not a true sports car.

HER: Wear a rubber skin diving suit and carry skis on the boot. Say the TR4 is a (1954) 107

RUJLER ANDICAN: Nobody rallye in a Rambler American.

The following poem is a welcome home to the weary traveler:

FAIRMANS SPORTS CAR CLUB

Now this is a story about a guy I know,
who lives in the land of ice and snow,
and to work each day drives an air cooled car,
only 25 miles, don't seem too far.

But try getting up at fifty below
and dig your car from a block of snow
then chip the ice from the glass to see it's pretty darn rough, take it from me.

Well, Bob he thought he'd play it cool,
a pretty sharp cat, he's nobody fool
he said "Heat's the thing I need for gas,
and plenty, to keep the oil a-flowin'."

He thought real hard, then took a look at all they sell in the mail order book,
that people buy to keep things hot,
as half-way guy, he bought the lot.

There's heaters for ducts, heaters for glass
heaters for oil, and heaters for gas.
There's heaters to rid your car of snow
and heaters to make other heaters go.

So he ordered them all and started to plan
how he'd hook them up to that old car
he called a car, it serves as such,
but as for room there ain't too much.

He planned it well and worked with care
to have the world's first electronic Carver,
a joy to behold and a pleasure to drive,
guaranteed warm at sixty-sixty-five.

He installed a heater to heat the motor
and a small one to heat the distributor rotor
and another to keep the interior warm
with an extra spare in case of storm.

There's a flat one that belts to the lower pan
and a goofy shaped heater that points at the fan
while a flexible one keeps the battery hot to stop the voltage from going to pot.

A skinny one keeps the fan belt a-trembly
and three heat taps around the transaxle assembly
to satisfy all and doubts to dispel there's an indicator light that says "all's well."

The very last item's the plug-in cord
as big as your arm, and stiff as a board
this is no place for a wire too small if you can't do it right - don't do it at all.

Now the time's arrived for the final test.
Bob's satisfied that he'd done his best,
no celebration, no nessuno dis
just quietly reach down and plug'er in.

Well, by now you know what happened then but to jog your memory I'll tell you again
the generators here couldn't take the torque things went black all the way to New York.

The subway stopped, all elevators stalled
strong men quaked and babies squalled
airports went on emergency power with only enough to run the tower.

Montreal blacked out and Boston too
in fact, the whole east coast blew.

So mark your calendars with a star.
For the day Bob Neam plugged in his car.
